If, at the expiration of such period, they are finally transferred to the Army Service Corps, they will be gazetted to the permanent rank of Captain from the date of the completion of their probation, unless previously promoted in their regiments. Officers attached under Art. 8 will hold rank as temporary Captains until promoted in their regiments.

5. Applications from Officers of over one year's service for appointment to the Permanent Establishment of the Army Service Corps under Art. 5 (a) will be forwarded to the Military Secretary, and must be supported by—

6. Officers of the Permanent Establishment will not, under Art. 3, be seconded or succeeded by a Captain unless the Officers on such establishment holding staff or other extra-regimental appointments are in excess of the following numbers:—

Besides the ordinary vacancies caused by promotion, retirement, &c., in the other ranks, a vacancy in the rank of Lieutenant-Colonel on the Supernumerary List will be held to be created for promotion under Art. 11, whenever a Major paid under Scale B, of Art. 22, completes five years' service as such, or as Assistant Commissary-General and Major, and is recommended for promotion.]

The careful training of the soldier in ordinary times by those whose duty it will be to direct his fire and lead him in action has become of paramount importance.

3. These regulations are based on the principle of demanding great exactitude in the simplified movements still retained for Drill, while conceding the utmost latitude to all commanders, of however small a unit, in Manœuvre. The first must be carried out literally, the second must be observed in the spirit more than in the letter.

4. The very process by which the rank and file are gradually imbued with a feeling of confidence, when called upon to act more or less upon their individual judgment, will create the discipline essential to success.

5. It is to the appreciation by General Officers Commanding of the vital points, and to their realising the altered conditions of modern warfare, that His Royal Highness looks for the efficient preparation of Infantry for the practical requirements of the battle-field.

6. General Orders 23, 41, and 94, of 1885, are hereby cancelled.

2. Copies of this memorandum can be obtained, on application to the Under Secretary of State for War, by Commanding Officers, who should make it their duty to give it the widest possible circulation, and to take care that soldiers proceeding on furlough have the means of making it known at their homes.

3. G.O. 177 of 1887, and the memorandum published therewith, are hereby cancelled.

A.O. 11.—Regulations for Army Schools.

1. Revised Regulations for Army Schools have been approved by the Secretary of State, and will be issued to all concerned.

At station practice all R.M.L. guns, 7-inch to 12·5-inch, and all B.L. guns, 6 inch and over, which are mounted on sliding carriages and platforms, and which are so mounted as to be capable of being fired with safety, will be fired three times consecutively every second year; and guns mounted on hydro-pneumatic disappearing mountings will be fired twice consecutively every six months.

257a. If, when the biennial station practice for any fort is due, any entire group of guns has been, or is about to be, used for regimental practice, such group will be exempt from station practice.

258. The 100-ton R.M.L. guns at Gibraltar and Malta will be fired four times consecutively every half year, and the 80-ton R.M.L. guns at Dover three times consecutively every half year.

259. The projectiles to be fired will be Palliser shot, but in those works where shrapnel shells are allowed as part of the equipment, these projectiles may be substituted for Palliser to the extent of one-third of the total number of rounds allowed.

260. In the case of guns which are prevented, on account of danger to shipping or other property, from firing service projectiles, blank ammunition will be used.

261. For blank ammunition, full charges will be used for all B.L. guns and for R.M.L. guns 12·5-inch and over, and reduced charges in silk-cloth cartridges for all other guns for which no blank charge may have been prescribed.

262. The three rounds will invariably be fired on the same day from the whole of the guns in each separate work, or in the case of large works from as many complete groups as possible. Guns having the same source of ammunition supply should, as a rule, be in the same group. The grouping, generally, is determined according to the bearing of the guns, and their number and position, which should facilitate their being commanded as a battery.

263. Except with guns mounted on hydro-pneumatic disappearing mountings, station practice will be carried on annually from half the works in a district; the whole of the guns, or complete groups of guns, in each of the works chosen being manned simultaneously, and all arrangements made which would be necessary in action, the object being not only instruction, but also to test thoroughly the working condition of the mountings and gear as well as all the fittings and accessories of the forts and batteries, the supply of ammunition, and the means for fighting the guns generally.

264. Particular attention will be paid to the arrangements necessary in each fort or battery for its proper subdivision into groups of guns (see para. 262); and, in order to ensure that the experience gained at such station practice is not lost, the grouping adopted will be shown in detail, with any remarks and recommendations that may suggest themselves for guidance in future practice.

265. One of the half-yearly practices from guns on hydro-pneumatic disappearing mountings will take place on the same day as the annual station practice, when such is carried out in the same work, and in all cases similar arrangements will be made to those laid down in paras. 263 and 264.

266. Targets, either moving or anchored, will be used for shotted practice if practicable; and in certain districts it may be found advantageous to lay down a "Special idea" for each occasion of the station practice from particular forts. In such cases targets will be placed in the positions, or follow the course, which hostile ships attacking the fort might be expected to take, and the fire of the work will be directed upon them.

266a. Reports on the result of station practice will be rendered annually, in duplicate, by the Officer Commanding Royal Artillery, through the General Officer Commanding, to the Deputy Adjutant-General, Royal Artillery, Horse Guards, directly after the conclusion of the practice.

266b. At the conclusion of practice an examination of the mountings will be made by the Inspector of Ordnance Machinery, and a special report furnished.

[Regimental Practice.]

267. The annual allowance of ammunition for regimental practice will be as follows:—

(a.) For each station where only one battery is quartered—

4 rounds for each distinct nature of R.M.L. gun, 7-inch to 12½-inch, and B.L. gun, 6-inch and over, mounted in the command, with a minimum total of 16 rounds where only a small diversity of natures is available.

12 rounds for each nature of "lighter ordnance" mounted in the command (see para. 268), except those that have been used for battery practice, with a minimum total of 16 rounds.

40 rounds of quick-firing ammunition, 3-pr. or 6-pr.

(b.) For each Lieutenant-Colonel's command where two or more batteries are stationed together—

6 rounds for each distinct nature of R.M.L. gun, 7-inch to 12½-inch, and B.L. gun, 6-inch and over, mounted in the command, with a minimum total of 24 rounds where only a small diversity of natures is available.

12 rounds for each nature of "lighter ordnance" mounted in the command (see para. 268), except those that have been used for battery practice, with a minimum of 24 rounds.

60 rounds of quick-firing ammunition, 3-pr. or 6-pr.

268 In calculating the number of rounds to be fired from "lighter ordnance," all descriptions of S.B. guns and howitzers (32-pr. S.B. B.L. excepted) will be classed as one nature, and in the same way all descriptions of S.B. cannonades and of mortars will also be classed as one nature.

269 Batteries stationed at Shoeburyness and Woolwich, or at other places where there are no armament works, will be allowed ammunition as follows:—

(a.) When only one battery can carry out practice at a time—

4 rounds from each of four natures of heavy guns, R.M.L. or B.L.

12 " 80-pr. or 64-pr. R.M.L. guns (except when used for battery practice).

12 " R.M.L. howitzer.

12 " R.B.L. gun (except when used for battery practice).

12 " B.L. gun under 6-inch.

12 " 2½-inch R.M.L. gun.

40 " 3-pr. or 6-pr. quick-firing guns.

(b.) When two or more batteries practise together—

6 rounds from each of four natures of heavy guns, R.B.L. or B.L.

12 " 80-pr. or 64-pr. R.M.L. guns (except when used for battery practice).

12 " R.M.L. howitzer.

12 " R.B.L. gun (except when used for battery practice).

12 " B.L. gun under 6-inch.

12 " 2½-inch R.M.L. gun.

60 " 3-pr. or 6-pr. quick-firing guns.

270. Regimental practice will be carried out from the guns actually mounted as the armament of the district or command, and from the principal different types of mountings in use. It will be carried out deliberately, and be spread over as long a period as circumstances may render desirable. Its object is to enable all ranks to become familiar with every nature of ordnance and mounting in use, and as far as possible with every description of projectile and fuse.

271. The projectiles to be used will (unless otherwise specified) be common shells. In cases where shrapnel shells are allowed as part of the equipment of guns, half the number of common shells for practice will be loaded with blowing charges and fired to represent shrapnel, and the other half will be fired plugged except in special cases where a safe land range or other facilities for testing the action of fuzes may be available, when they may be filled and fired as for service.

272. Shrapnell shells may be drawn in lieu of common shells for one nature of gun in each year, and varied in successive years. Case shot may be drawn in lieu of shells for practice with guns used for flank defence of ditches.

273. Reports on the result of regimental practice will be rendered annually, in duplicate, in the same manner as reports of station practice (see para. 266a), and any defects that may be observed in the guns or their equipments will be brought to notice.

273a. At the conclusion of practice a special examination of the mountings will be made by the Inspector of Ordnance Machinery, and a special report furnished.

Siege Practice.

274. Siege practice will be carried out under special directions, which will be issued annually by the Adjutant-General. Ammunition to the value of 120*l*. per battery will be allowed, and the distribution to the different natures of ordnance will be arranged according to the scheme of practice for the current season.

274a. A special report will be made on conclusion of the practice to the Deputy Adjutant-General, Royal Artillery.

Battery Practice.

275. The annual allowance of ammunition for battery practice will be as follows:—

For elementary instruction, 100 rounds.
For competitive practice, 40 rounds.

276. Depot batteries will be allowed ammunition for elementary instruction in the proportion of 20 rounds for each squad of 15 non-commissioned officers and young soldiers available, up to a total of 100 rounds per battery.

277. The coast brigade will be allowed 20 rounds for each squad of 15 non-commissioned officers and men available.

278. Battery instructional practice will in all cases be carried out from medium guns (usually 64-pr. R.M.L.), and the projectiles to be used will be 80 per cent. common shells and 20 per cent. shrapnel shells, or common shells to act as such.

279. The common shells will be fired plugged, except in certain cases where a safe land range may be available, when a proportion of them may be filled and fired as for service. Where live shells cannot be fired with safety, common shells, with blowing charges to represent shrapnel, will be used instead.

280. Ammunition for battery practice will not be allowed to batteries that carry on siege practice (see para. 274).

280a. Reports on the result of battery practice will be rendered annually to the Deputy-Adjutant-General, Royal Artillery.

Position-finding Practice.

281. Position-finding practice will be carried out under special instructions issued annually by the Adjutant-General, and the proportion of ammunition will be 10 rounds for each squad of 15 Officers, non-commissioned officers, and men employed. The ammunition will be fired from the particular guns selected for the practice.

281a. A special report will be made on the conclusion of the practice to the Deputy Adjutant-General, Royal Artillery.

General Instructions.

282. When it is necessary for the purpose of practice or exercise to remove the bulkheads separating the emplacements of heavy guns, the service will be carried out by the Royal Artillery, the Royal Engineers furnishing such information as may be requisite to expedite the removal. The bulkheads will also be replaced by the Royal Artillery.

282a. The responsibility for any damage done during the removal and replacing of the bulkheads, due to want of care, will fall on the Royal Artillery.

282b. Plugged common or double shells will be filled with water, and the metal plugs screwed into the fuze holes. R.B.D. shells of field service gauge will also have the papier-maché wads placed in the sockets.

282c. No more shells than those required for immediate practice will be filled with water.

282d. Shells filled with water which have not been expended in practice, or which have been recovered after practice, will be emptied and dried before being placed in store.

282e. All shells (except S.B.) fired with blowing charges will be filled with dry coal dust, space only being left for the insertion of the fuze and of the bag containing the blowing charge.

282f. Fuzes, with blowing charges only, will be supplied for mortar shells.

282g. Demands for ammunition will be made on Army Form G 805, and will be dealt with in the manner laid down for small-arm ammunition. Projectiles condemned for service, but considered fit "for practice only," will be demanded, if there are none on charge.

282h. The ammunition of oldest manufacture (except filled cartridges, which will be made up specially for this practice) will always be first expended, and will be replaced by the next supply from store. Shells required to be fired plugged, should be taken from any empty shells that may be on charge, or should be demanded from store. Those set apart as fit for practice only should be utilized for this purpose as far as possible.

282i. No spare fuzes will be authorised for practice, but spare friction-tubes and vent-piece primers will be allowed in the proportion of 10 per cent.

282k. Calico and paper bags for bursters of shells need not be returned to store at the conclusion of gun practice, but should be shown as expended.

282l. Care will be taken that the annual and biennial lacquering of bores, prescribed in Appendix V., para. 13, is carried out immediately after the conclusion of the annual and biennial practice.

Part II. ("Peace") is under revision.

GENERAL REGULATIONS.

A.O. 55.—Civil Servants and County Councils.

The following Minute of the Lords Commissioners of Her Majesty's Treasury is hereby promulgated for the information of those concerned:—

Minute of the Treasury, dated 13th December 1888.

The First Lord calls the attention of the Board to a question which was put to him in the House of Commons on Thursday, the 7th instant.

Sir A. Borthwick asked whether Civil Servants could be permitted to become candidates at the approaching election for County Councils. The First Lord replied that the question had been carefully considered by the Government, who are of opinion that members of the Civil Service should not be permitted to become candidates for the County Councils: that it was obvious that the discharge of duties on the County Councils might seriously conflict with their duties in the Civil Service. The First Lord refers also to a further answer on the same subject in the House of Commons on the 17th instant.

The First Lord advises that a circular should be sent to the different Offices, informing them of the decision of the Government as announced to the House of Commons, in order that the Heads of Departments may be able to give information or issue instructions to their staff.

My Lords concur.

Let a copy of this Minute be sent to the different Departments for their information and guidance.

Treasury, 18th December 1888.

A.O. 56.—Civil Servants and Directorships of Companies.

The following Minute of the Lords Commissioners of Her Majesty's Treasury is hereby promulgated for the information of those concerned:—

Treasury Minute, dated 29th November 1888.

The First Lord and the Chancellor of the Exchequer call the attention of the Board to the recommendations made by the Royal Commission upon Civil Establishments in para. 100 of their second report:—

"Upon the special point of directorships of companies being held by members of the Civil Service, we call attention to a paper handed in by Mr. Meade, printed in the Appendix, page 429. The extract from the Treasury Minute of 27th March 1849 there printed, does not appear to us to go so far as is desirable; nor has it been made obligatory on the whole Civil Service.

"We approve of the rule laid down by the Colonial Office, viz. :—

"No permanent officer of the establishment of the Colonial Office is to be at liberty to take part in any way in the management of any insurance society or any trading, commercial, or financial, company of whatever description. This prohibition not to apply to any insurance or benefit society restricted to members of the Civil Service.

And we think that it should be embodied with other general regulations in an Order in Council and made applicable to all permanent Civil Servants. We call attention also to the correspondence on this subject between the Treasury and the Home Office in 1877-8, which is also printed in the Appendix."

The Report of the Commissioners is, as their Lordships know, at present under consideration, but as some short time may elapse before the views of Her Majesty's Government are declared, the First Lord and the Chancellor of the Exchequer advise that the heads of departments should be requested to inform their officers that no person holding a permanent post in their several departments can be permitted to accept a directorship of a public company pending publication of the decision at which Her Majesty's Government may arrive upon the recommendation to which the First Lord and the Chancellor of the Exchequer have invited the Board's attention.

It should be noted that rules are already in force forbidding officers of the Treasury and Colonial Office to take directorships.

My Lords concur.

ERRATUM.
